

Tysha Noel ▶ The Moors at Gaslight Baker Theatre

3/15/19, 9:40 AM (8 hrs)

I love theatre of the absurd, especially when it is performed so flawlessly and hysterically as this cast did last night! I was thoroughly entertained and had several belly laughs (a dog and a chicken?) during the first act, and the second had me on the edge of my seat.

This is not a traditional play and should not be viewed by the audience as such, nonetheless it was very entertaining and I found myself marveling at how fast it went by!

The set was really cool, the lighting and other effects helped the audience get a feel for how isolated and brutal the Moors are, and the sound track was perfectly matched to the scenes being performed.

Lest I forget to mention their brilliance the entire cast is believable- the relationships, the connections, the ferocity of emotions that come along with sisters- all played with exquisite comedic and dramatic timing.

I love that the GBT has such a sensational season with so many different types of theatre and look forward to seeing this one again! Way to go, Eric and all! Well done!
